Purpose:

MHIN is a community health information exchange serving the market of northern Indiana and southern Michigan dedicated to providing secure, single source access to patient clinical information for providers of patient care. We service over 600 physician and 2500 clinical healthcare providers.

Services:

Community Data Repository - over 85 data sources fulfill a comprehensive medical record for access in our local emergency departments, and acute and non-acute settings. MHIN has 10 years of history with close to 500,000 active patients.

Clinical Messaging integrates clinics at the entry level of exchange, offering clinical messaging with intelligent sorting and printing as well as aiding with physician referrals.

Interoperability Interfacing is a single source of intelligent interface management that has enabled over 50% of the market to receive discrete laboratory data, admission messages, hospital transcription, and x-ray reports and patient practice summaries. MHIN connects to all major EHR vendors.

Electronic Health Record is a fully integrated CCHIT certified platform that has the out-of-the-box benefit of including all appropriate community data without additional interfacing.

Quality Initiatives have been created as reporting suites for various PQRI initiatives. Monthly benchmark reports are available to align with NCQA standards. Community registries for a number of health conditions including cancer diabetes, hypertension exists.
